Though such accounts are in active status, it is called potentially dormant account. If such accounts are operated in time, it will not turn into dormant accounts.

b. Inoperative/Dormant Accounts:

- I. The savings as well as current accounts should be treated as inoperative /dormant if there are no transactions in the accounts for over a period of two years.
- II. For the purpose of classifying an account as “inoperative/dormant” both the type of transactions debit as well as credit transactions, induced at the instance of customers and third party should be considered. However, the service charges levied by the bank or interest (payable on the balances of account itself.) credited by the bank should not be considered. preventing fraud and making a Suspicious Transactions Report. However, the entire process will remain un-noticeable by the customer.

- VII. Operation in such accounts may be allowed after due diligence as per risk category of the customer. Due diligence would mean ensuring genuineness of the transaction, verification of the signature and identity etc. However, it has to be ensured that the customer is not inconvenienced as a result of extra care taken by the bank branches. KYC guidelines should also be observed for activation of inoperative account.
- VIII. There is no charge for activation of inoperative account.
- IX. Interest on savings bank accounts should be credited on regular basis whether the account is operative or not.
